Fire Nears 300 Homes

N JUAN CAPISTRANO, (UPI) — A massive fire, fanned by dry winds, swept into the 110,000 Camp Pendleton Marine reservation yesterday, burning barracks on the east and about 300 homes on the northern front.

Units of Marines were directed to the fire lines to 2,000 other firefighters in the fourth day of their battle with the flames. The fire was diverted earlier when it moved within several miles of this historic town with its famed mission, founded in 1776.

Prince of Safecrackers Slides Out of Jail

Slippery Johnny Does It Again

PETERHEAD, Scotland (Reuters) — Eel-like Johnny Ramensky, sly "prince of safecrackers" credited with flied Herman Goering's secrets in a wartime commando operation — Wednesday slipped out of Peterhead Prison in his fifth such escape.

The 53-year-old Ramensky's latest demonstration that "iron bars do not make a prison make" — for some people — came two months after his fourth escape which saw him recaptured two days later.

The veteran of 30 years behind bars slipped out of Peterhead last February, and in 1952 and 1954 as well. But each time Ramensky, the first man to get out of the prison near Aberdeen, was retaken after 24 hours.

His getaway Wednesday was typically non-violent. He just zipped out of sight on the way to the prison tailor shop. The blue-eyed, fresh-faced convict got out legally after war broke out in 1939. Authorities knew he had a way with nitro and other safecracking explosives and put him to work teaching Britain's fledgling Secrets blanketed his wartime exploits, but newspapers since have told how Johnny and a few brave accomplices parachuted behind the German lines as allied troops smashed toward Rome.

Johnny and his commando buddies sneaked into a German headquarters and the "surgeon of the safes" flitted back over the enemy lines with the Nazis' plans for their withdrawal northward.

Later Ramensky pulled off the biggest coup of all in the heart of the Third Reich. He raided Goering's headquarters, cracked a huge safe and es-

After the war he just couldn't keep away from safes. In 1953 he was given 10 years for cracking one.

His war record was cited but court decided a light sentence wouldn't deter the little fellow who, where safes were concerned, never had been at

Brighter Tourist Picture

OFFICIAL statistics covering last summer's tourist influx into British Columbia paint a somewhat brighter picture than some people had expected. Due mainly to interruption of some of the ferry services there were 52,000 fewer arrivals by water than in 1957; but that loss was more than offset by a substantial increase in the number of United States travellers who came to British Columbia by car. The net result was an increase of more than 15,000 in the number of United States visitors, which may be regarded as highly satisfactory in view of factors adverse to travel, not the least of which were the severe limitations necessitated by this year's abnormal fire hazards.

It is customary to judge the success of a tourist season by the number of American travellers. Less emphasized but in some ways more important, however, are the movements of Canadian vacationers; and this year there has been evidence of an encouraging trend. Although exact totals cannot be compiled because there are no formalities entailed in interprovincial travel, tourist officials say there was a heavy increase in the number of arrivals in British Columbia from other parts of the Dominion.

If it can be maintained, this is a development which could do the tourist industry more good than it might derive from an increase in travel across the international border. Analyses made by federal travel authorities show that Canadians on holiday tours are much more lavish spenders than their American cousins. Unfortunately for the national economy they have been doing far too much of their spending in the United States. As with international trade in general, the balance between Canada and the United States on tourism is highly adverse to the Dominion, and has been that way for many years, even though there are ten times more American than Canadian potential travellers.

It is necessary for the industry to publicize in the States the attractions of British Columbia as a vacation land, but an important gain—perhaps an even more valuable one—is to be made by persuading other Canadians to spend holidays on their own side of the boundary.

Crowding Themselves Out

AT sea warships have become smaller while on land motor cars have grown in size. The anomaly is that whereas ships have endless room to manoeuvre automobile space is shrinking. Obviously there is little if any liaison between car manufacturers and urban traffic authorities. This is strange, because the law of diminishing returns would apply if cars lengthened themselves out of existence.

It is the considered opinion of some traffic experts that the day will come when private cars, for instance, won't be allowed in downtown areas. Some cities are already toying with this idea, and in fact have introduced it. The value of cars as amenities of modern living will be reduced if this movement becomes widespread, and manufacturers will regret they did not see the handwriting on the wall, in this respect.

Even in a smallish city like Victoria it becomes plainer every day that soon there will be insufficient room for the number of motor vehicles using the streets. Size is not the only criterion but the saturation point, certainly that of parking, would be longer delayed were cars of lesser length. Since this complaint is common all over North America it is amazing that the automotive industry does not take heed.

Nor can car owners be blamed. The large and fancy cars admittedly tickle human vanity as ostensibly a symbol of prestige and personal prosperity, but car owners did not ask in the first place for these oversized models. They were foisted on them just as dress fashions are; had they never been introduced motorists would not have been discontented.

Another angle has been brought into the subject by the mayor of Los Angeles, who has started a campaign for smaller cars makes by purchasing smaller models for city use. His reason is that the smaller the car the less the amount of exhaust fumes and thus the benefit to smog-ridden Los Angeles. This is an aspect of urban living which added to the almost desperate concern of traffic authorities to find room for cars of any length, should surely cause automobile manufacturers to reorient their thinking.

Give a Job for Christmas

IN not a few Greater Victoria homes this winter a job for the breadwinner of the family would be the most welcome Christmas present that could be conceived. Across the nation, the contrast of more individuals being at work with the numbers of those out of regular employment also sharply increased creates a confusing picture. The two totals do not set off one another. In this region at the latest available report a total of 4,392 men and women were registered with the Employment Service of Canada seeking work. That was at December 11, 14 days before Christmas. Few look for work who do not need it.

In a community of this size there should be scores of households which could contribute to the job totals through incidental repairs, renovations, landscaping and other projects. There may be numbers contemplating new porches, steps, garages, pathways and other renewals or extensions of home facilities. Smaller businesses, and perhaps large ones, probably have at least some projects on their drawing boards now that they might be able to proceed with, when ensured continuous prosecution of such undertakings. There is nothing in Victoria's winter to stop outside projects. Even though scores of them might be small, in sum they would be of great help to men who have had to lay aside the dinner pail. There were 3,010 workless men registered here last week.

Women seeking work were fewer, but 1,382 of them were looking for employment at that time. It can be taken as a sound conclusion that no woman would be haunting the employment offices if not in earnest. Here again, it is the homes, the seasonal-rush businesses and the multiplicity of incidental undertakings that could now furnish a welcome source of encouragement to all so circumstanced. The figures tell little; they are even down a little from last year. But warm, fresh-and-blood human beings with homes and stakes in the community need a job for Christmas.

Interpreting the News

Early U.K. Poll Is Unlikely

By ED SIMON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

BRITAIN'S popular press has been thrown into a high state of excitement by an "unlappable" prime minister.

When Prime Minister Macmillan playfully hinted to the opposition in the Commons recently that the next general election "may be sooner than you think," several newspapers were galvanized into a series of calculations designed to show that the election would be held in February or March.

The remark, made while Macmillan was experiencing considerable difficulty dealing with questions resurrecting the Suez Canal crisis of two years ago, was the reddest of red herrings. It is a measure of the prime minister's political acumen that almost without exception the listening journalists set off in full cry.

The next day the politically-potent Suez question was almost lost in the welter of excited election prognostications.

Theoretically, Macmillan can call a general election any time between now and May, 1960, when the Conservative government's five-year term expires.

But a number of factors, mainly economic, make it highly unlikely he will give serious consideration to a late winter or early spring appeal to the country.

Barring the emergence of an issue of overriding importance, mid-May would appear to be the earliest reasonable date, with September or October other likely choices.

The budget, a traditional vehicle for offering vote-winning tidbits to the electorate, is not expected before mid-April. Government departments have not yet started on detailed preparation of their estimates and there is no indication they are under pressure to do so.

A more important factor, and one much in the minds of government strategists, is the unemployment problem. The number of Britons out of work is close to the 550,000 mark—high by British standards—and government experts predict the figure will increase by the end of February.

Thinking Aloud

Gerald Waring

"... of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages—and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

IT was surprising to read as I did the other day that Annie Laurie was the Tipperary of the Crimean War, which would suggest that up-beating a song to suit marching feet is not the modern innovation we might think it is. The gentle air about the girl whose brow was like a snowdrift scarcely seems of the tempo to lighten a route march, even if the sentiments were a soldier's, but apparently troops learned long ago what can be done to jazz up a tune. It would be a natural instinct therefore that made the Loyal Edmontonians adopt Lily Marlene as their regimental march, another haunting subject with a plaintive note about her.

This is an era when even a Christmas carol might not escape a ragtime rendition, but the shock of such unorthodoxy has long worn off. I can remember the stunned amazement which some 30 years ago greeted a pianist who rumbad Loch Lomond to a group of Scots, a piece of boldness that warranted the Victoria Cross. During the last war, also, my own ears opened wide when in the studio of CJVI I heard a bagpiper play Maury Doats, a feat of legerdemain bordering on the miraculous or the absurd, I have not yet decided which.

Nowadays any song no matter its parentage can be arranged to suit the restless feet of any hep cat, as a visit to the nearest ballroom will illustrate, and once sacred military pieces are given the modern beat with great abandon. One of them I note particularly these days is Scotland the Brave, currently sung as a fiery cross but the tune of my own regiment signifying rest. It was played as a signal our foot-slogging was about over, for the moment at least, and not, happily, as a hint to go over the top, a practice which repetition quickly made somewhat unattractive.

Mention of Tipperary reminds one how these old-time tunes live on. To this day generations not born to the nuances of their origin go down the Strand or Pack Up their Troubles long after kithbays have changed their meaning. Some of these 1914 favorites had a place in the last war but naturally the boys of 1939 found out that among other tuneless exercises to Roll Out the Barrel was peculiarly appropriate to the lilt of their step. In its origin it was a polka and easy to adapt, but even if it had been a waltz its tempo would have been just as easily elevated.

One waltz for instance, in the person of Waltzing Matilda, who made soldierly feet move more equably in desert sands and elsewhere, is a conspicuous example of the proneness of songs to out official military tunes. For all his familiarity Colonel Bogey never had a chance with Tipperary, the Beer-Barrel Polka, or the twin ditties Lily Marlene and Waltzing Matilda. The inference is inescapable that it is the song that counts and not the tune. Military marches there are by the score but it is the words soldiers sing which give immortality to the tunes by which in war they march and have their being. The air is a by-product, for if need be the troops will fashion these to match the beat of their feet.

THE private enterprise radio people are reported to be waiting, with a kind of kids-before-Christmas excitement, for the new broadcasting authority to start exercising its authority. It's well known that the private broadcasters want the Board of Broadcast Governors to let them compete with the CBC TV stations in the major cities, where state-owned TV has a monopoly.

It's less well known that they want to set up their own radio networks, and eventually even TV networks, to break the CBC network monopoly.

Six groups of private broadcasters have prepared more or less detailed proposals for new networks. Three are aiming towards national coverage, and three are planning regional networks. The projects are dependent on BGC approval. They also depend on the ability of the private broadcasters to co-operate with one another, and to finance the ventures.

The report of the Fowler Royal Commission on Broadcasting, on which the government's new policy is based, said flatly that private broadcasters had no interest in setting up networks to rival those of the CBC.

James Allard, who has been the industry's front man in Ottawa for a decade, opines that the royal commission misunderstood the meanings of "network" and "hookup," and that the industry's lack of interest in the latter might have been misconstrued to apply to the former.

A network is a permanent organization doing business on a corporate basis and linking stations on long-term contracts. A hookup is a temporary linking of stations for a specific purpose, such as broadcasting the Grey Cup game.

YOU would hardly expect the Packsack to be a prognosticator of fashion. Yet here goes.

Did you notice, in the TV coverage of the Grey Cup game, those players at and around the bench wearing large capes?

Ladies and gentlemen, the cape is coming back into fashion as a men's garment.

Formerly, the football players on the bench shrouded themselves in loose blankets. A few ultra-financed clubs invested in hooded sweat shirts of large sizes which the players hastily drew on and hastily yanked off, as they came and went at the bench. But all of a sudden, somebody with a practical sense thought of capes. And thus we saw the players striding about the bench area arrayed in the handsomest and manliest of all garments, a great, blanket-like cape. The player is clothed in it in an instant. And in an instant, it is flung aside.

When I say the cape is "coming back" into fashion, I mean that it has only been out of fashion about one hundred years. Before the dawn

Private broadcasters have always wanted a network of their own, says Allard, who speaks with authority, as executive vice-president of the Canadian Association of Broadcasters.

In the days of untrammelled private enterprise in radio, before the Bennett government set up the Canadian Radio Broadcasting Commission, networks were so rampant commercial that they even bore their sponsors' names. Thus: the Nielsen Chocolate network, and the Imperial Oil network.

The CRBC took them over and welded them into the CRBC network, which eventually became the CBC national network. But since these distant days before the government entered the broadcasting business, the private end of the industry has had no experience in operating networks except in the limited field of station participation in the CBC net.

Allard reports that nevertheless there is great enthusiasm for new networks, particularly among the CBC national stations. Important in their planning is greater use of "regional facilities." This simply means emphasis on co-operative contributions to network time as opposed to the CBC practice of originating most network material in the major cities, notably Toronto and Montreal.

This idea sounds tremendous—until you reflect on the fact that artistic talent concentrates where it can make the best living: the big cities.

Another factor in the planning, Allard says, is use of "advanced technological methods." That impressive phrase could mean little more than air-mailing tape recordings instead of leasing land lines.

These will be among matters for the BGC's attention: what the private broadcasters want to do and why; how they propose doing it, and the quantity and quality of their output of Canadian material.

The Packsack

of the railroad era, around 1850 say, capes were the universal garment of men who rode horseback, drove cutters, walked 20 miles, and otherwise had to use their limbs and still be warm. Coats came in when it was no longer necessary to be comfortable while active.

In this motor age the cape is now about 40 years late. It is the perfect garment for a man who, on entering his car, can fling it off, and on leaving his car, can throw it on. Football players have now given it the manly warrant. Capes, within a year, will be strictly de rigueur, as we fashion authorities say.

Challenging Two Years

By DAVID LAWRENCE

THE next two years for Ike—what will they be like? What ought he to do, and what will he do?

This is the subject uppermost in the minds of many people here. It is important to the United States as a whole, and to the world.

President Eisenhower is the last person anyone would call a politician, and it has often been said that he has no taste for politics. Both statements can be right, and yet it is conceivable that in his way Mr. Eisenhower could achieve real success on the political front.

For while the word "politics" connotes a game or a contest between parties and persons in governmental life, it has a broader meaning—the capacity to understand the mood of the people. The key to leadership in the next two years, therefore, is in how to deal with the mood of the people.

Obviously, the first step is to make sure just what the national mood really is.

Today the national mood is a composite of a lot of local and individual moods. But there is a common denominator running through all of them. There are gripes galore. There are the irritations and annoyances of the economic world and many worries over the fact that the Communists do not seem to want to let things alone. There are grievances about high taxes and inequitable taxes. There are fears about the steady decline in the purchasing power of the dollar—otherwise called inflation. There is unrest between management and labor and a belief that organized labor will abuse its collective bargaining power and extort higher and higher wages. This means higher and higher prices and a squeeze, particularly on the people with fixed incomes.

How then to cure the discontent? For discontent produced the negative reaction that instigated the Democratic Party's landslide in the recent elections.

The first and foremost problem in national and international affairs is to fix responsibility. In the recent elections the blame for everything was placed on the Republicans. This was due to the tactics of the Democrats who assumed no responsibility themselves but constantly fostered the illusion that the president controls the budget, writes the appropriation laws, can increase or decrease spending, can control wages and prices, and can wave a wand and bring prosperity or, by making a mistake, drive the country into a recession.

There is no such thing as responsible government here in the parliamentary sense. Mr. Truman had no qualms about fixing responsibility on the Republican Congress which he had on his hands from 1946 to 1948, and he won the presidential election. In season and out he hammered away at his political opponents and continually characterized the 80th Congress as a "do nothing" congress.

The last congress was one of the worst in American history if the criterion is the protection of the national interest against tyranny and autocracy in the courts, and if it be assumed that the preservation of the right of local self-government is any longer important to the people of America. The Congress, moreover, encouraged policies of extravagance in the handling of public funds and turned away from constructive measures looking toward ways of using the tax system as an incentive to business expansion.

Meddling by Congress in the conduct of foreign policy was constant so that the world isn't sure today whether partisans on the senate foreign relations committee or the officials of the department of state speak for this nation to other nations.

Actually, Mr. Eisenhower can wield more power with the people now than ever before if he diagnoses the national mood correctly and keeps up a persistent campaign for measures and policies that he believes are right.

Contentment for the electorate will not come in two years, but responsibility for the discontent can be marked out clearly so that in the elections of 1960 and 1964 the people may know that, when they vote Democratic or Republican, they are choosing certain policies and certain individuals to carry them out.

If the electorate isn't afraid of a deep recession and a runaway inflation and doesn't care what happens to the dollar, surely one political party ought, through its leadership, to spell out the facts in unmistakable terms so that if the debacle does come the nation can return to the party that continuously preached sound economics. For basically it's the pocketbook issues that win or lose elections.

If Mr. Eisenhower is well advised, he will make an aggressive fight in the next two years to keep the politicians in congress—who hold the purse strings—from robbing the people of their savings. There is no more important issue.

Letters to the Editor

To Stop Inflation

In the issue of the Colonist of Dec. 6, there was an editorial headed: "Rate Hike Not Solution." The article contains various lamentations and arguments, but no suggestion of a solution.

It is argued by labor that increase in wages does not cause rise in prices, but this is one case in which the increase in rates definitely flowed from an increase in wages. The increase in wages was not based on or justified by greater production of work, but was merely based on comparison with wages in industry. Fortunately for industry, it has not to go before a board of commissioners to get a rise in prices authorized; the rise simply appears almost unnoticed, like a very small brook flowing into a river.

But still labor says it is not wages that cause the rise; it is the cost of material and excessive profits, etc. This of course is an erroneous contention. Fundamentally, all things that we use have only two ingredients. One ingredient is the original material that is found in or upon the earth or in the sea or in the air. There, all these materials are free. The other ingredient is labor or human effort in some form or another, not necessarily applied to the thing itself, but applied to the running of an organized society in all its aspects. Broadly speaking, wages are the compensation for all these efforts whether the compensation be called wages or salaries or profits or rent or interest or any other name.

It seems therefore clear that the place to hold cost is at the beginning and all the way through the production channel, and that means wages, salaries, profits, etc., for all forms of human effort. Strikes and lockouts should be prohibited, and wage claims and other disputes should be settled by negotiation. There could be a board of court of appeal to review the decision on the facts presented.

I have quietly advocated the above for some time, and there are many who are of opinion that something along that line must come in the near future if we are to have industrial peace and be able to stop inflation.

860 Per Cent Gain

The Rossland-Trail by-election has produced some figures which should be of general interest. A comparison between the 1956 and the 1958 vote shows Social Credit down 38 per cent, CCF down 3 per cent, Liberal up 12 per cent, and the Conservatives up by a magnificent 860 per cent.

This campaign and its results have left shocked and incredulous citizens all over British Columbia.

Boundless Kindness

It is only through the medium of the press that the people as myself are able to bring to the attention of the public as a whole the wonderful care that is being given to returned veterans at our Veterans' Hospital here. If it were possible, I should like to present orchids to the entire nursing staff for their cheerful, smiling, and very competent care of the sick and ailing, whom day after day they tend so faithfully; and to the staff of doctors who work so hard to heal and help all who come to them; and a great big "Thank you" to the entire DVA staff. Their efficiency and courtesy is wonderful.

I know whereof I speak, as my dear husband recently passed away in the hospital, after several long periods of illness. Each and every time he received care that was beyond reproach, and at the end the kindness and courtesy shown me by the DVA staff went far to ease the pain of my loss.

Mantha to Hang For Murder

Jenkins were identified as homosexuals.

It was brought out that the night before the young sailor was stabbed to death Sept. 6, his bed at HMCS Naden, he and Mantha had a fight and Jenkins was beaten up.

Teen-Ager Charged With Murder

CALGARY (CP) — A town witness testified at a preliminary hearing Wednesday that Barry Dixon, 19, told him he had beaten and robbed Clyde (Jack) Baxter, 65-year-old professional gambler.

Dixon and two other persons were charged with Baxter's slaying. His battered body was found Nov. 8 lying in a pool of blood in his luxury apartment.

Preliminary hearing of charges against George Taylor, 20, and Wendy Devlin, 24, to start Dec. 22.

John Ellinson, 19, of Langara, Alta., told the court he identified Dixon in a hotel room where Dixon showed him between $700 and $800 which he said he had taken from Baxter's apartment.

"I asked him if he had led Jack, if Jack was dead," he said, "no, I don't think we did hit him a few times," Ellinson testified.

Answering questions from town prosecutor Fred Thord, Ellinson said he overheard a conversation between Dixon and Miss Devlin Oct. 10, in which the robbery of an unnamed man was discussed.

Uncle Sam Waited For Mao to Tip Hat 'Gracefully' to U.S.

WASHINGTON — Lincoln White, the state department's official spokesman, was asked whether Mao Tse-tung's resignation as president of Communist China, announced yesterday, might increase the chances of U.S. recognition.

"No," said White, then he added somewhat bitterly: "In leaving his post Mr. Mao did not tip his cap gracefully in the direction of the United States."

WASHINGTON — Rep. Coya Knutson (D., Minn.) failed in her efforts to obtain a full-scale House investigation of charges her opponents duped her husband into a "Coya come home" statement that led to her defeat. Husband Andy said he was led to believe by his wife's political foes that she was "running around" with her office assistant, Bill Kjeldahl.

NEW YORK — Actress Marilyn Monroe has suffered a miscarriage for the second time since her marriage to playwright Arthur Miller. She was reported "terribly depressed."

SANTA MONICA, Calif. — Italian-born actress Pier Angeli won a divorce by default from singer Vic Damone on testimony he "was insanely jealous" without having any reason to doubt her love.

WASHINGTON — Jerome B. Caplin, a brother of cartoonist Al Capp, conceded he was once a Communist party functionary in Louisiana and Pennsylvania.

PARIS — A tired Peter Townsend returned from an 80,000-mile world-making trip around the world and said he did not plan to go to England to settle down.

ST. CHARLES, Mo. — It appears there will be a Democratic sweep in St. Charles County after all. Arthur Tegethoff, candidate for recorder of deeds who was the only Democratic loser in county contests in the November election, has been endorsed by the county's Democratic committee for appointment as courthouse janitor.

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower says life had become so complicated that another year or two should be added to the present high school term. He said modern-day youngsters were so "sophisticated" that 12 years of school no longer provided the minimum education they should have.

EDINBURGH, Scotland — Lord Guthrie, judge of the court of sessions here, adjourned a case because the courtroom was too hot. Previous day he adjourned another case in the same courtroom because it was too cold.

WASHINGTON — The state department says the government of Iraq has apologized for the demonstrations against assistant secretary William M. Rountree in Baghdad Monday.

Is Duel Rival Up to Snuff?

ROME (Reuters) — Italian monarchist Vincenzo Caputo, whose recent duel challenge to Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery was accepted by another Englishman, R. Bridgland, announced Wednesday that he is not sure he will be able to fight after all.

A statement issued by the Italian Nationalist Association, of which Caputo is president, said it is investigating Bridgland "to discover whether he is a personality of sufficient stature to justify his encroachment on the territory of the national president."

'Told We Must Refinance' Mills Tells Shrum Probe

Financial wizards of the provincial government, and the B.C. Power Commission took the stand yesterday when the Shrum royal commission into power commission financing at the Empress Hotel. Ian R. A. Mills, power commission director of finance, told the royal commission that the power commission "never has been behind and is always up to date in its repayments to the government" on the $26,000,000 power commission loans held in the name of the government.

I. R. A. MILLS ... nothing in default

He agreed with commissioner John Dunsinuir that "there is nothing in default and it is suggested this loan or borrowing be refinanced although it seems the securities are at a very favorable rate of interest."

Probers Short Of Work

The Shrum royal commission into B.C. Power Commission financing is running out of work—at least for the time being.

Dr. Gordon Shrum, chairman, said there are no new witnesses to call now although former power commission general manager H. Lee Briggs and former commissioner H. H. Griffin are scheduled to appear early in the new year.

Dr. Shrum said the commission today will study a revision of scheduled dates for the hearings.

Meanwhile, the commission will meet again this morning at 10 at the Empress Hotel and will have power commissioners T. H. Crosby and Dr. H. J. MacLeod appear for more questioning. Also scheduled for reappearances are power commission general manager R. C. McMorde and Garth Griffiths.

He said the power commission's net debt to the government as of April 1, 1958, was $26,306,072 and that annual net debt charges were $1,540,373.

He said that the last due date of outstanding and unpaid provincial direct obligations included in the provincial gross debt is 1977.

"Therefore, on or before that date it will be necessary for the province to have either cash or negotiable securities in its sinking funds to repay outstanding debt," he said. "The current position is that, instead of cash securities, the province has a non-negotiable book entry."

TWO CHOICES

"Failure to fund outstanding cash advances by the commission will have the effect of requiring the province either to borrow or to appropriate revenues in 1977 to then pay the outstanding cash advances," he said.

Mr. Fisher said one refinancing plan worked out to an annual fixed cash debt charge of $1,525,447, less than the $1,540,373 the commission now pays.

He agreed that in effect the power commission would be paying the same number of dollars, but will be paying it

'Project Mercury' Started

New Rocket Family Planned by Experts

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Space administrator T. Keith Glennan said last night the United States plans a whole new family of rockets for space exploration and has embarked on a "project Mercury" aimed at the atmosphere.

The administrator of the new National Aeronautics and Space Administration cautioned, however, that it will be "several years" before the United States will be able to send "our modern day Mercury" into space.

many satellite launchings and space probes, seemingly with "little glamor," to build up the necessary storehouse of scientific data, he said.

Glennan gave his first major report on American space activities in a speech prepared for the annual Aero Club of Washington dinner, marking the 55th anniversary of the first powered flight by the Wright brothers.

Glennan's speech came on the heels of these other developments in the space-rocket field:

said it will spend $200,000,000 over the next four years to develop a rocket engine with 1,000,000 pounds thrust "to advance U.S. exploration of space."

The air force ordered increased production of the Snark inter-continental guided missile and the navy named McDonnell Aircraft Co. of St. Louis to produce a new all-weather jet fighter to replace present models by the early 1960's.

New Hampshire, one of the 13 original states of the U.S., was first settled in 1623.

Cyprus Deaths Delayed

LONDON (Reuters) — The colonial office today announced Cyprus Governor Sir Hugh Foot has postponed the execution of two Greek-Cypriots sentenced to death for the murder of another Greek-Cypriot.

Twenty-eight Labor MPs Wednesday night demanded the reprieve.

FOR PEACE
In a cable to the governor, the Labor MPs called for a reprieve "in the interest of reconciliation and peace in Cyprus."

In Nicosia Wednesday night, Greek-Cypriot political prisoners demonstrated in their cells at Nicosia central prison where the two members of the Greek-Cypriot underground awaited execution.

GREEK INTERCEDES
In Athens, a Greek government spokesman said Greece made representations to Britain Wednesday to prevent the execution of the pair.

Reports said Greek Foreign Minister Evangelos Averoff, now in Paris for NATO discussions, had been told to cancel all appointments connected with Cyprus talks if the executions took place.

COURAGE, EOKA
The prisoners chanted "long live EOKA" — the Greek-Cypriot terrorist underground pledged to unite British-ruled Cyprus with Greece and called out "tharos" (courage).

The two condemned men are Yanakis Athanassiou, 23, and Costas Constantinder, 27.

Night Classes Will Start In January

A full house is expected for 14 non-credit night classes starting at Victoria College the second week in January.

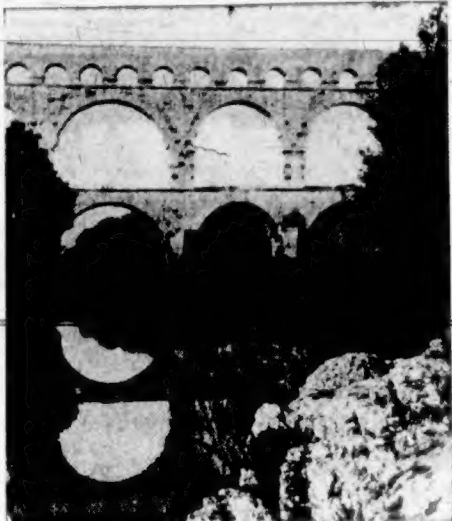

C. H. Howatson, assistant director of night courses, said yesterday he was "confident" enrolment for each course would exceed the minimum 12.

Fees range from $6 to $30 with discount for couples and students in certain courses. Classes finish at the end of April or the beginning of May.

Courses include: "Some Problems of Modern Physics"; "The Piano and the Composer"; "G. B. Shaw and His Society"; "Southeast Asia"; "Pictorial Photography"; "Fundamentals of Russian"; "Building or Buying a Home"; "Music and Rhythms for the Pre-school Child"; "Introduction to Humanities."

Those wishing to enroll are advised to register by mail now. Registration deadline is the first week in January.

More information may be obtained from the evening division office at the college, EV 2-9131.

2,000 Years Old, Still in Use

Spanning the Gard River, this impressive bridge, built by the Romans about 2,000 years ago, is undergoing safety tests at Remoulins, France. Favorite tourist attraction, bridge still carries auto and passenger traffic, but is considered unsafe for trucks and other heavy vehicles. Vibrations caused by heavy trucks are considered a threat to stone structure, foundations of which were recently undermined by flash floods.

Costly Art Out

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker late Wednesday confirmed that the government last May declined to buy two paintings for the National Gallery for a total cost of $445,000.

Decision against purchasing the paintings "was arrived at because the government was not prepared to ask Parliament to appropriate nearly half a million dollars of taxpayers' money for the purchase of two paintings from Europe."

"The government is still of the opinion that, with many pressing calls on the treasury, such an expenditure of taxpayers' money would not be justified."

The paintings involved were

"Landscape With Christ Appearing to the Apostles at the Sea of Tiberias" by the Flemish painter Brueghel and The Madonna by Lorenzo Monaco. Mr. Diefenbaker's statement said the Brueghel, property of Baron von Poelnitz, would have cost $350,000 and the Monaco, from the Liechtenstein collection, would have cost $95,000.

'I Just Can't Forget That Ragged Little Boy'

The gray haired man smiled cheerfully as he pushed a handful of bills across the counter.

"I'd like this to go to your Christmas fund," he said. "There were 10s and 20s in the pile."

He was nearly but not expensively dressed.

"A fund like this can do a lot of good," he said. "For the

He hesitated.

"Sounds silly," he went on, "but I've been haunted for years by the memory of a ragged little boy who came up to me in the street the day before Christmas long ago."

"He had a ball of string in his hands and he was trying to sell it. He said he wanted money for a present for his little sister because his family couldn't afford presents."

"I had just been to the liquor store. My money was gone. All I had was a couple of small coins. The kid, eyes lit up when he saw them, but I felt awful. If I hadn't been thinking only of myself I could have done more."

"See what I mean?" He smiled as the receipt was handed him. Then he looked at the money and walked out of the office. Other similar stories come in each year with the donations to the 500 Christmas Fund.

Many of the people who give have known hardship themselves in other years.

One man came to Canada years ago from Holland. He was almost penniless when he arrived but hard work and good luck made a good home for him.

"Canada has started on me," he said when he came in with his donation. "Many of the people have helped me when I was starting out. . . . When I needed it, I would have to be ungrateful, wouldn't I? I did not try to help others now that I can give help."

Another donor recalled the depression of the '30s.

"I know how tough it can be when you just can't make both ends meet," she said. "I needed help then. Now I don't and I want to give help in every way I can."

Some of the donations that come through the mail carry the same sort of messages of kindness.

Such as:

"Will you please see that these families have a happy Christmas?"

Or:

"Hope this helps a little." And:

"May this help to add a little cheer to those less fortunate people in our area."

The great majority of the contributions come in with no are there just the same.

And the contributors will have a happier Christmas themselves for knowing they have helped.

Win a Turkey and Help Others

Rain or Shine, Big Shoot On

Rain or shine, fog or snow—thousands of Greater Victoria residents are expected to take part in the annual two-day Victoria gun club Christmas turkey shoot on Saturday and Sunday.

The gun club has again given a total of $250 for the Daili Colonist "500 Christmas Fund."

Club officers urged all shooters, whether in expert or novice classes, to come out and make a day of it.

Proponent Robert Noble said that the gun club has a long history of giving to the community. "Even if a shooter has never shot before he will be shooting against other be-

Speculators Reap Profit From Saanich Land Tax

Control or Chaos Choice Says Reeve

Saanich residents are paying thousands of dollars in taxes each year so a few land speculators can profit, Reeve George Chatterton charged last night.

The taxes are being paid to provide comprehensive municipal services to subdivisions which are being created in Saanich without regard to the present and future needs of the residents, he said.

Unplanned and scattered subdivisions are being created, he said, without regard to the needs of the community. "This is not a fully planned subdivision," Mr. Chatterton said. "Such guidance would be welcome by those subdivisions who are concerned with their future growth."

The development plan under consideration by Saanich council will stop unplanned subdivisions and will provide a guide for the future growth of the city.

Most important of all, it will ensure that the municipality is one of which the residents are proud with adequate parks.

Old-Time Side-Winder There in Emergency

GANGES—Dance rehearsals at Ganges junior high school conducted by Mrs. Don Fraser have been interrupted in recent weeks when power failures immobilized her record player.

Finally she brought along an old-fashioned gramophone with a hand winder. The first time she used it she heard an impressed pupil say:

"Look at that wonderful machine made for when the power goes off. You don't even have to plug it in."

Around the Island

Official Blames Flood Scare On False Rumor

ALBERNI—A false and malicious rumor was spread by a B.C. Power Commission official for the recent scare here when Fraser Road area residents were evacuated from their homes following a report of a break in Elsie Lake dam.

A letter from R. C. McMorris, acting general manager and chief engineer to Alberni, said that the rumor was a "deliberate attempt to cause a panic."

With regard to the possibility of a failure of the Elsie Lake dam, Mr. McMorris said that the possibility of such a failure is so remote as to be virtually negligible due to the manner in which the dam is constructed, and the adequacy of provisions for spilling water through the spillway during flooding periods.

In the extremely remote possibility of trouble at the dam, the most likely portion to fail would be one of the smaller sections, a failure of which would release only a very limited amount of stored water.

Due to the distance between the dam and the estuary of the Soanax River, together with the presence of a lake acting as a reservoir between the dam and the estuary, we consider that the danger of flooding which would be experienced in the lower portions of the river would be much reduced and would be delayed sufficiently so that evacuation could be undertaken and catastrophe averted.

ERRINGTON Chamber of Commerce here has decided to shelter for six months its move to secure a resident RCMP officer for this community.

Decision was reached after receipt of a letter from RCMP provincial headquarters in Victoria, describing extent of coverage by units and officers from Parksville.

The chamber told Errington Development Association, also interested in the resident police question, the situation "would be kept under observation."

CHEMANUS H. Lee, former B.C. Power Commission general manager, who was dismissed after criticizing the Social Credit government's power financing, was heard by 200 at a Chamber of Commerce meeting here.

He said he would go to the limit of his resources to put the situation clearly before the people but would "never enter the political field."

He said he would like to stay on the coast as a consulting engineer if he could get employment here.

American Net Team Seems Set

PERTH, Australia (AP)—The names of Ham Richardson and Alex Olmedo are expected to be dropped into the Davis Cup at noon today when United States captain Perry Jones nominates the singles lineup to face the British in the Inter zone tennis final.

Peruvian Olmedo from the University of Southern California, the first foreigner to play on a United States team, apparently teamed with a local player in the first round match Wednesday with the British. Richardson, 25, from New Orleans is America's top ranked player and is expected to be the main attraction in the singles final.

Don Jordan-Akins Rematch Now Seems Doubtful Issue

ST. LOUIS (AP) - Bernard of the International Boxing Club told me there was no public demand for such a contest. The bout in Los Angeles was so bad there is little in the least in a rematch," said Chikman.

a rematch. Chikman said that the fight might not be held for lack of a sponsor.

Also those interested in California have other points for Jordan. They would like him to fight Art Aragon and maybe another champion but Don Jordan Akins in a rematch.

Akins took a sound beating as Jordan punched his way to

Nurse's Fate Baffling

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP)—Autopsy admitted yesterday that state baffled as to whether Olga Dumont, former B.C. nurse involved in a complicated marital tangle, died or just vanished.

The 29-year-old woman, married to a Mrs. Kenneth Dumont, 34, has admitted to a complicated marital tangle.

She is alleged to have masqueraded to avoid her son's marriage. The other Mrs. Dumont is accused on four counts connected with the charged announcement.

Police said the disclosure that three years of marriage and one child were missing from Olga Dumont's apathment renewed hopes she is alive somewhere.

Authorities a week ago discoving the possibility that the apathetic wife was in a possible grave.

Two men, Augustus Buhda, 25, and Luis Moya, 22, have been questioned in the case. Officers said the pair may have met with foul play in that connection and may have been in Santa Barbara County are being checked for denied any knowledge of the nurse's disappearance.

Santa Barbara investigators said the woman Mrs. Dumont told that she deserted her daughter-in-law. The nurse, who is expecting a child in January, and her husband took separate apartments soon after their wedding, officers said. The woman Mrs. Dumont told that she deserted her daughter-in-law. The nurse, who is expecting a child in January, and her husband took separate apartments soon after their wedding, officers

Kissing Is Safe In Norfolk

NORFOLK, Va. (UPI)—Girls can kiss Norfolk's many sailors in public or private now without fear. Lettie Louise Atkins was charged with disorderly conduct for kissing a sailor beside her in a tavern.

Savory E. Amato, a conviction could mean a lot of work for him. "If kissing is disorderly," Judge Amato said, "there are a lot of people in trouble."

He dismissed the charge.

Act on Jobs, Labor Urges

VANCOUVER (CP)—Labor here wants a law of national emergency declared to deal with unemployment.

The demand came Wednesday from a meeting of trade union leaders.

Speakers from all sides urged each other to focus politics and concentrate on the problem.

Members of Parliament lined up against the proposal when the question was put to a vote.

The single resolution in addition to calling for a state of emergency urged the federal government to take action.

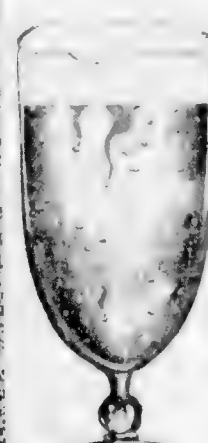

Unemployed persons continue to receive unemployment insurance benefits "until suitably employed."

Watch the Monkey!

Probably, we hope to find a little more to read in the West Coast paper, particularly the one in the monkey, before we get a start of the monkey. The monkey escaped from the monkey and was found in the monkey. The monkey was found in the monkey.

Gifts

From 5⁰⁰ to 10⁰⁰

There aren't so very many days left for your Christmas shopping . . . so read on and find the wonderful gifts for your family. Then hurry down, phone or mail your orders to EATON'S. You can be sure you'll find the gifts to thrill everyone on your list. If you're still in a quandary . . . call EATON'S Personal Shopper. She'll help you out of your gift buying difficulties.

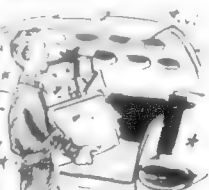

More about Eaton's

Only six shopping days 'til Christmas. Don't get in a panic if it seems as though you can't possibly get it all done. Remember that people every year find the smart ones remember that it's easier to shop at EATON'S the store with more especially this year. Since EATON'S will be open until 9 p.m. Thursday, Friday, Monday and Tuesday.

Parking's Easy

Don't chase around the block looking for a vacant space. When you have your choice of two convenient car parks close into EATON'S. You can park in the Empress Hotel car park, 1245 St. George Street, or in the Eaton's Car Park, 1245 St. George Street. Both are free of charge. EATON'S is just a few steps away. The Eaton's Car Park is open from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. daily.

Direct Delivery

A big advantage in using EATON'S parking is that parcels are delivered right to the car. You don't have to pick up your car. The parcel is delivered to the car and if you have the parking lot, you don't even have to leave. How soft does that feel? You won't even have to shop!

Der Tag Is Here

That day is here already. The day when you don't have to shop. Stay home and read your EATON'S catalogue. Then call EV-7141 and ask the Order Line operator to send you what you want. If you live outside the Eaton's area, ask your nearest Eaton's store for a catalogue. EATON'S pays for the call.

Personal Service

If you don't see exactly what you want in the advertisement, don't despair. Turn to the Personal Shopper. She'll help you find what you need. EATON'S has a wealth of experience in shopping - all you need do is tell her what sort of person the gift is for, and how much you want to spend. She'll come back with a whole lot of suggestions and send you the one you choose.

Twice Ill In Century

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—A woman who had lived in London entered her second century on Wednesday. But a heart attack Tuesday night, her second illness in 100 years, forced cancellation of a celebration at which she was to have been honored by members of her family from London, Montreal, North Bay, Detroit and Toronto.

Hungarian Women Still Fight

LONDON (WNS). Since the unsuccessful revolution of 1956, Hungarian women have quietly continued to fight for feminine rights. In the past two years they have caused the following gains:

1. Western-style beauty contests are now permitted.
2. Blue jeans can be bought at many stores.
3. Couturiers are copying Paris fashions.
4. Women are now asked to "Make up Mrs. Putz's face."

The Hungarian method of grading is now used as a basis for the Soviet method. The number of restaurants with Moscow names is increasing.

It'll Be a Happy Christmas Even in City Hospitals

Being in bed is no hindrance to a happy Christmas holiday as patients at Victoria's St. Joseph's Hospital look forward to an exciting round of fun.

Last evening more than 60 diabetic patients of the Canadian Diabetic Association enjoyed a huge smorgasbord dinner with all the trimmings in the nurses' cafeteria while the student nurses served.

GALA DANCE

The student nurses are all looking forward to a gala dance Monday at 7:30 p.m. at their residence. Following refreshments, there will be dancing in the auditorium.

Throughout the hospital the patient rooms are decorated with garlands of lights and Christmas decorations completely the part of that were hung by the busy nurses.

In the children's ward, grateful babies dangle from the ceiling and pine and velvet dolls and bunnies add to the festive air.

SONGS, CAROLS

On Monday and again on Christmas Day, the nurses will wander through the halls and wards of the hospital harmonizing on traditional Christmas songs and carols.

The children who will spend Christmas at St. Joseph's will have a special treat. Christmas Eve they will take the long heavy cotton stockings from the operating rooms and hang them at the foot of each bed. In the morning Santa in the gown of nurses' staff and parents will fill the stockings with candy and presents for the youngsters. The ceremony, the nurse will feature delight, hot turkey and plum pudding and all the other Christmas treats.

LOTS OF TURKEY

In the spacious white kitchen, the cooks and their staff will be preparing 20 thirty-pound turkeys to feed the patients on the big day.

This Sunday, a local radio station and its mobile unit will visit the children from 11:30 to 12 noon and bring holiday treats, entertainment and fun to the ward.

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Please help a heartbroken girl hang on to her sanity.

For over three years I went with a fellow I'll call Ralph. I was no ring but considered myself engaged. All my relatives knew him and said we were an ideal couple. He cut down on his drinking when he started to go with me. His mother said I was the best thing that ever happened to him.

Last week Ralph came over and I could see he was worried. He told me he was leaving town and the explanation would be in the mail.

When the letter came I almost fainted. He had been seeing a 17-year-old girl behind my back and she became pregnant. They were married last month and were leaving town in a few days. Another words Ralph had been seeing me after he had married this girl!

He swears he still loves me and always will. He wants to wait till after the baby comes, then get a divorce. He says I can have him physically, but I have him mentally. Please tell me what to do.—KIKI.

You may have him mentally, but his wife has him legally. Put this fellow out of your mind the same as any other married man with a family on the way.

A fellow who would get married behind his steady's back and continues to see her as if he were single is a deceitful scoundrel and you know it.

He asks you to trust him. Why should you based on the record? What has he done to merit trust? It's what people do that counts, not lip service. I hope you'll have nothing more to do with this double dealer. It's enough that he's wrecked one girl's life. Don't let him try for two.

It Burns Us Up

Dear Ann There is a girl in our crowd who is giving a very nice guy a raw deal. She is in football in town only because he's captain of the football team.

She's told all of us that he is a big jerk and that she is ready to dump him right on his head as soon as football season is over. Then she picks to make a big party for the football team.

It seems as if she has her own little mind. She has a friend who is a swimmer and is very honest. It says as to her being taken in by this fellow, a girl can say something in your column to warn the guy? TRUE FRIEND.

Like what? An open letter to all honest football captains to beware of a girl who is taking him for a ride? If he gets thrown for a loss he'll learn, like everyone else in the meantime, I trust you will keep your noble mouth shut. True Friend, so that you will not make noises like a jealous cat.

Dear Ann The office where my husband works has a party every month for employees and their wives. My husband is treasurer.

Something always happens to the finances and he gets stuck. For example last month a couple was unable to attend because of illness. They didn't let him know until it was too late to cancel the reservations. My husband had to pay for their dinner.

Our income isn't large. My husband is in no position to make excuses. How can he collect from these deadbeats? PINCHED.

Either take the parties to a restaurant that will collect for you, or send a letter to all employees informing that anyone who enquires is in your husband's hands 24 hours in advance. It will be assumed that they are not able to attend.

To learn the truth of the charges, write for ANS' LANSBERRY new booklet, "Cheating Drinking" enclosing with your request 24 cents in coin and a large self-addressed stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped self-addressed envelope.

Not All Toys Suitable for Child

Think Before Choosing

This another article of public interest prepared for The Daily Colonist by the Victoria Department of Health.

Christmas shopping with its many temptations brings up many problems for children. All they have to do is attend the toy sections of our many shops to see the multitude of toys of all shapes and sizes.

We all have a few favorite toys of our childhood for whom we are planning the purchase of toys. Perhaps a few suggestions as to the selection of these gifts will be of help not only to you but also to the child who will receive the gifts.

Psychologists and child development experts have known for some time that all toys which appeal to children should be of a type that does not have any sharp edges or points. Toys should be made of a material that is safe and durable. Toys should be made of a material that is safe and durable. Toys should be made of a material that is safe and durable.

SPAN OF ATTENTION Also as a child grows older he is able to concentrate his span of attention for increasing lengths of time. These toys should be considered as a guide for parents and Mary new tracks does and games.

Most important is the fact that toys should be made of a material that is safe and durable. Toys should be made of a material that is safe and durable. Toys should be made of a material that is safe and durable.

It is a good idea to look through the toy sections of our many shops to see the multitude of toys of all shapes and sizes. 'Below Stairs' Palace Dance Big Success

LONDON (Reuters) Nursemaid Mabel Anderson headed for bed early yesterday morning, cherishing the memory of Tuesday night's staff ball at Buckingham Palace.

Mabel, nursemaid to Princess Anne, was one of Prince Philip's partners as Philip, Prince of Wales, and Princess Margaret danced until midnight with palace servants.

The Queen and her husband spent two hours at the dance arranged by the royal household social club in the ball room of the palace.

Band leader Sydney Light played music from the records. My Fair Lady and West Side Story were popular choices and music dominated the traditional Christmas "stomps" celebration.

The Queen wearing a fringed evening gown of pale green satin embroidered with emeralds and a diamond and pearl brooch was received by Maurice Watts, her page, who escorted her to the ball.

The Queen's evening gown was a gift from the Queen Mother. The Queen's evening gown was a gift from the Queen Mother. The Queen's evening gown was a gift from the Queen Mother.

Tender Leg of Lamb

Cranberries belong with turkey. It's true... but have you ever tried a sparkling cranberry sauce with tender leg of lamb? There's something about the flavor of cranberries that belongs with every meat.

Take a pound of fresh cranberries, for instance. The favorite fresh whole cranberry sauce is delicious with ham or turkey. Add some spices for zest, eating with pork or duckling. Add mint flavoring for perfection with lamb. All these cranberry sauces will gladden with color on your table.

Here's the recipe for a tender leg of lamb with a mint cranberry sauce. Cherry sticks.

MINTY CRANBERRY SAUCE

Two cups granulated sugar, 1 cup water, 1 cup fresh cranberries, 2 peeled apples, thinly sliced, 1 teaspoon peppermint extract, 1/2 cup dried blanched almonds.

Combine sugar and water in saucepan. Boil until sugar dissolves, 3 minutes. Lower heat and add cranberries and apple slices. Cook until berries pop open, about 5 minutes. Remove from heat and add remaining ingredients. Boil 1 minute. Makes 1 quart sauce.

With pork or duckling... SPICED CRANBERRIES

One cup water, 1/2 cup brown sugar, 1/4 cup granulated sugar, 1/4 cup vinegar, 2 teaspoons whole cloves, 2 sticks cinnamon, 1 cup fresh cranberries.

Bring water, sugar, vinegar, cloves and cinnamon to a boil. Add cranberries and cook 5 minutes. Strain. Add the cranberries and cook 5 minutes on until cranberries pop open. Remove from heat and add remaining ingredients. Boil 1 minute. Makes 1 quart sauce.

Sidewalk Displays Tempt You

Sidewalk shopping for Christmas fruits and vegetables is fun this year as the markets display some of the finest quality goods seen in these parts.

The emphasis is on quality and reasonable prices. What there is available to shoppers is the best of the crops.

One item that is a surprise is the excellent Alberta and British Columbia grapes. Five times better than last year. Around Christmas the grapes are selling for about two pounds for 49 cents.

New arrivals for your shopping basket are the U.S. Red Bliss potatoes. Extremely good for boiling with their red skins on they stay firm and don't crack. They'll be retailing for about two pounds for 29 cents.

California celery has recovered from the bad frost about six weeks ago and with an increase in demand is selling for about 29 cents a bunch.

One item that goes well at two dates in the year. Hat women and Christmas is the popular peanut selling by the pound. They're priced at about 34 cents.

All ready to pop in a cooking pot are these huge truffled heads of California cauliflower priced at about 25 cents a pound.

Foggy cold nights in a have resulted in excellent Brussels sprouts from California. They're selling for a reasonable 25 cents a pound.

Green bean eaters will be glad to hear there is a fresh supply on the market this week for the festivities. Selling by the pound, they're priced at about 30 cents.

Here's a reminder — don't forget to buy onions for the turkey dressing and cranberry sauce. The supply is good because they're clearing out rapidly at about 15 cents a bag.

Tear Gas Subdues Indian

MERRITT, B.C. (CP). Reinforcements from Kamloops used tear gas bombs in a four-hour battle to arrest an Indian here Wednesday.

Police who arrived on the scene to investigate the shooting of a woman, the police night were met by a firestorm of shots.

Police did not return the fire but used tear gas bombs to clear the area of the Indian. The Indian was taken to hospital and is now recovering.

MAY DROP CHARGES. Police said charges may not be laid because of the man's mental condition.

They were called to investigate the shooting of Patricia Hoskins of nearby Douglas Lake. She was shot in the head with a bullet from a 22-calibre rifle.

Authorities at Nicola Hospital here said the woman will have to undergo surgery on her right eye.

Church Approves Rehiring Crowe

TORONTO (CP). Approval of the action of United College at Winnipeg in rehiring Professor Harry S. Crowe was expressed Wednesday night by the governing body of the United Church of Canada.

In a statement issued following an all-day conference called to discuss the situation at the college, the group said:

"We believe that Prof. Crowe was justifiably rehired. The use of his name in a private letter and the suggestion that the board of regents has justified the situation so far as possible by rehiring Prof. Crowe.

Prof. Crowe was fired from his position at the college after a personal letter written by him from Kingston, Ont., came into the possession of a member of the board of regents.

Wednesday's meeting at the college was attended by 12 members of the board of regents, including Prof. Crowe.

Millions Owing

ROME (AP). — An Italian newspaper reported Wednesday night a former bank clerk's chain-letter fund enticed 302 priests to invest with him despite a Vatican warning against it.

The priests numbered almost three out of five persons who responded to the soliciting of Gian Battista Gluffre for investments with a promise of quick 40 to 100 per cent interest payments, the report said.

The commission said Gluffre used funds collected from subsequent depositors to pay off earlier debtors and still owes investors more than $3,000,000 after paying out $2,640,000 interest.

Gluffre, 56, started as a bank clerk but later became a stockbroker and a real estate agent.

He had a reputation for being a good investor and a good friend.

Colombia Mourns Fire Victims

Panic Increased Toll

BOGOTÁ, Colombia (AP)—Colombians mourned Wednesday night for 81 victims of a fire that killed 81 and injured 100 in a department store in Bogotá.

The fire and fireproof stampede swept the Vello store in Bogotá.

Fifty were injured and dozens of others were killed by smoke and flames from a fire caused by the explosion of a short-circuited display of Christmas lights.

The loss of life was the largest toll for a department store fire. Fires of the National Protection Association in Bogotá showed it doubled the previous night the death of 41 persons at a store in Bogotá.

National mourning was declared by President Alberto Lleras Camargo in this South American country of 22,000,000.

The government will pay for the funerals of the victims and shippers mostly women who died.

Store manager Alberto Mazuza said that deaths might have been limited to about 20 but for panic that sent many clashing and screaming up a staircase.

The stairway had seemed a pathway of safety to shoppers trapped among laden counters at the rear of the store, only 21 feet wide by a curtain of flames at the centre.

But it turned into a funeral pyre for masses of men, women and children, some with Christmas purchases in their

Ships Batter Ice Prison

MONTREAL (UPI)—The 10,000-h.p. icebreaker Labrador is hurrying to the ice-blocked St. Lawrence River from Halifax to assist in attempts to batter a channel through continuously forming ice.

The icebreaker's progress has been hampered for the last few days. On arrival the country's second largest icebreaker, formerly a naval Arctic patrol ship, was scheduled to meet the Labrador in the St. Lawrence River. The Labrador is now about 70 miles down river.

The icebreakers Labrador and Ernest Lapointe spent most of yesterday working in the vicinity of a vessel caught in a jam at Lachine, about 30 miles down the St. Lawrence from the American ship the Elmira. The Elmira is used in at St. Lawrence.

Channel engineers said that weather changes in the next few days, rather than the temperature going up to down will play a large part in the question of whether all ships will clear the St. Lawrence before the river freezes solid.

If it should turn very cold, navigation may come to a halt as large ships of ice and icebergs would again restrict navigation, resulting from a thick steam fog which sits above the river.

If it becomes warm for any length of time, ice pans along the river would be compressed until caught in a jam or stop at places such as Lake St. Peter at Three Rivers where the St. Lawrence current flows considerably. And should it snow, poor visibility would again restrict navigation.

SNOW BILL PILES UP

Huge Search Poised

Air, Sea and Land
To Be Combed Today

COMBING A full-scale search by air, sea and land was scheduled for dawn today in an attempt to locate a missing RCAF navigator who parachuted from a plunging C-100 aircraft, late Tuesday.

With passing hours adding to fears for John McLaren, 22, of St. Lambert, Que., the missing navigator, the air force set up search and rescue headquarters last night at the RCAF station here.

Six aircraft, land-based and more than 100 ground searchers were needed for a searching of water and land in the Black Channel Bay area, approximately 15 miles north of here.

SWEEP AREA
The search is being led by Commander J. W. B. de la Cour, commanding officer of the RCAF station here. The search area is a 100-mile square, with the RCAF station as the center.

Search planes, ground searchers and rain have been working since dawn today in a search for the missing navigator. The search is being led by Commander J. W. B. de la Cour, commanding officer of the RCAF station here.

Tiny Light

Flicker Saves Pilot

CAUTION A tiny light on his life jacket and the darkness of another C-100 plane made the difference between life and death for missing pilot J. O. McLaren, from St. George's, St. John's.

The missing pilot's powerful light, seen by a ground search party, was spotted by an other C-100 plane, which, at the same time, spotted the missing pilot's light on the black choppy water.

The rescue party, about the spot where it was seen, was then directed by an RCAF station, which, at the same time, spotted the missing pilot's light on the black choppy water.

Balloon Setting Record

Balloon carrying three men and a woman on an attempt to cross the Atlantic was reported at noon yesterday "at least 1,000 miles" from its Canary Island starting point and airborne for 96 hours, nine more than the previous record for small balloons set in 1931. If the balloon, "The Small Wonder," comes down on the water on the 3,000-mile journey to the British West Indies, the four passengers are counting on its gondola, above, to serve as a lifeboat.

Ladysmith Teachers Win Salary Boost

LADYSMITH A board of arbitration, majority awarded a new 1959 salary scale for the 12 teachers in school district 67, an increase in the yearly pay roll of 10 per cent or $34,000 per year.

Details of the arbitration award were released Tuesday night by secretary administrator R. W. O'Connell at the school board meeting.

Clothing, Shoes Needed Badly

NANAIMO—Need for clothing and footwear for children in this district has become so acute that Mayor Pete Maffeo has called an "emergency" meeting to see if something can be done about it.

Officers from the provincial welfare department have been asked to attend the meeting in city hall, Friday afternoon.

Capt. Charles Smith of the Salvation Army here said the numbers of needy families this Christmas are high.

Guests to Eat Squid

NANAIMO—About 30 "exotic foods" including squid will be eaten by guests to the A. L. Kendall home at Boat Harbor, cedar district, on New Year's eve.

The guests, all members of the "Exotic Food Society," will include some from the United States, and many parts of Canada.

Prelude to Murder

He'll Punch, Not Push

CINCINNATI (AP)—Among letters received by Santa Claus at the Cincinnati post office is one from a boy (age unknown) who promises to be good, stay out of mischief and not punch or push.

His request: a punching bag.

OTTAWA (UPI)—Two girls charged after O'Leary was found slung in a gutter early on the morning of Nov. 24. He had been stabbed in the chest. A street light was found near the body.

Thomas Dunn, William Post and Herni Dupuis, all 19, Post's 16-year-old brother James and James McDermond, 17, were commented, "Don't bother about them—they're just a bunch of punks." Miss James said McDermond then grabbed Miss Haddock's arm and Miss Haddock in turn grabbed his. After the group of youths was ordered from the restaurant and one of them said to O'Leary in passing, "You're dead, man, dead," she told the two shopkeepers.

'Twas The Week Before Christmas

'Twas a week before Christmas and all over town Mothers are striving to make their money go round. When the clock strikes twelve and the last party's done, the day could be the best day she holds dear. For there's nothing a mother can do for Bill's soft heart. And having a mother that's a real treat, there's something and something she must not forget. Avoids frowns and frowns, oh my, what a feat. She's on the sofa with a bicycle cracked. It must be the new day she thought as she looked on. Mother's spring to her feet and run to the door. She knew at the moment what she was looking for. She turned through the paper till her eyes were sore. The power's out on Low Cost the stores of town. Look, she looked for a while and then she found it. Now all things she wants are within her grasp. Turkey dinner with trimming she'll sure have at last. This miracle appeared when things were looking lost. Because now all her groceries are bought at Low Cost.

Students Admit Smoking

Did Butt Kill 92?

CHICAGO (UPI) — Police disclosed Wednesday that 21 students have admitted smoking cigarettes in a school staff well where a fire which killed 92 children and nuns is believed to have started.

Police Sgt. James Kehoe said another 85 students told investigators they saw the fire and debris piled in the stairwell at Our Lady of the Angels School.

However, Kehoe said none of the students questioned would admit smoking cigarettes in the basement stairwell on the morning of the tragedy.

Police had earlier revealed that two of the fire's survivors, boys aged 9 and 10, told police they saw two older boys smoking in the stairwell shortly before the fire took possession of the school.

The boys said one of the smokers dipped his burning cigarette into a bucket of paint.

The other boy threw his cigarette into a bucket and the younger boys stamped it out when he left, Kehoe said.

Police insist that the fire started in debris piled in the stairwell probably when a student threw a cigarette butt into the stacks of paper and cardboard cartons.

Nuclear Hopes Dashed

GENEVA (UPI) — The United States, Britain and Russia agreed yesterday to create a seven-nation commission to meet an international test ban.

But Russia moved immediately to hamstring the working policy of the body with a unanimity voting rule among the three nuclear powers. This would give the three a built-in veto over such key questions as dispatch of investigating teams to the site of a suspected nuclear explosion.

Western sources termed the Soviet demand in its present form unacceptable. They said the demand was contained in a proposed Soviet treaty article submitted by Russian chief delegate Semion K. Tsvetkov at a three-day session of the three-nation nuclear conference.

The sources said the commission would consist of the three nuclear powers — Russia, Britain and the United States — as permanent members plus four other countries elected by all nations. It would have the authority to prohibit nuclear tests.

The agreement reflected Russian demand for a unanimity voting system on matters of substance in the commission.

Growing Red Power Stressed

NATO Nations Agree To Intensify Efforts

PARIS (Reuters) — The 15 members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization agreed Wednesday to step up their contributions to the advanced European "shield" to counter what American leaders described as the growing threat of Russia's military might.

Gen. Lauris Norstad, American commander-in-chief of allied forces in Europe, attacked the whip over clean, quiet, modern, at Western, drive toward session of the ministerial council called to discuss NATO's military program and the nuclear power of the Soviet Union.

Cheque Count Ends in Jail

A young Victorian with a lengthy record was sentenced to nine months in jail for cashing a forged cheque, when he appeared before Magistrate Henry Hall in city police court yesterday.

William Ricketts, 305 Gorge, had pleaded guilty to cashing a forged cheque for $75 at a downtown store.

SEALED TENDERS in triplicate addressed to the undersigned and endorsed "Tender for Agronomy Building, Experimental Farm, Saanichton," will be received until 5 p.m. Friday, January 23, 1936.

Plans and Specifications may be seen and forms of tender obtained at the Experimental Farm, Saanichton, B.C.

Each tender must be accompanied by a deposit in the form of a certified cheque on a chartered bank in Canada, payable to the Receiver General of Canada, or bearer bonds as specified in the form of tender, for 10 per cent of the amount of the tender. The deposit of the successful Tenderer will be retained as security until the work is completed, while deposits of

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

AUCTION SALE OF CROWN LOGS

AN EXTENSION PHONE!

Just about the nicest gift any husband ever thought of

And just about the nicest gift any wife or family ever received. It's different, exciting and its pleasure increases every day. And it's so easy to give an extension phone. You can pick up a gift-boxed phone at the Telephone Company, already to put under the tree. Or, for Christmas secrecy, have it delivered to your office. The extension phone will be installed, free of charge, shortly after Christmas. And here's the best part—it costs only $1.20 a month, even less in some communities. You may pre-pay, or have it added monthly to your own telephone bill. To give a glamorous color phone, there's a moderate additional charge—but you pay this only once. TO ORDER, PHONE THE B.C.
